Qualities making McDade Roberts accountants stand out from the crowd are friendliness, approachability and being pro-active

A remarkable 96 per cent of McDade Roberts' clients say they are above average for friendliness and 86 per cent agree they are above average for proactivity, in a recent survey.

Director Alan Roberts explains: "We treat clients as individuals and aim to see their big picture. It's a cliché but people do business with people so we try to avoid speaking in accountancy riddles."

With 40 staff in Fulwood, Bamber Bridge, Longridge and Garstang, McDade Roberts keep the personal touch despite their experience and scale.

Alan concludes: "McDade Roberts are proud to help one-man bands or firms with £50 million turnover."
